

Corresponding Authors of manuscripts submitted to the JAVMA must complete this Copyright Assignment Agreement and Authorship Form. Questions should be directed to javma@avma.org. Manuscripts will not be published until a completed agreement has been received.

Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association
Copyright Assignment Agreement and Authorship Form

This Agreement is made by the Corresponding Author signing below in favor of the American Veterinary Medical Association, an Illinois not-for-profit corporation (the “Publisher”), and pertains to the following manuscript (referred to in this Agreement as the “Work”) submitted for publication in the Journal of the American Veterinary Medical Association (“JAVMA”):

Manuscript title and ID number:

Corresponding Author’s name:

Corresponding Author’s contact information:

The signature below certifies the Corresponding Author’s agreement and compliance with all the following terms and conditions:

Copyright Transfer. In consideration of the acceptance of the above Work for publication, I, on behalf of myself and all Co- Authors, do hereby assign, transfer, or otherwise convey exclusively to the Publisher all my rights, title, and interest in and to the copyright in the Work and any and all rights incident thereto, including all its graphic and photographic elements, tables, illustrations, and other image-related elements. This assignment transfers exclusively to the Publisher all of the rights under any law governing moral, publicity, or privacy rights or other proprietary rights directly or indirectly relating to the Work assigned, including but not limited to the exclusive right to publish and reproduce the Work, the right to distribute the Work, the right to create derivative works, the right to display and perform the Work publicly, or any part of the Work, in print, electronic, and all other media (whether now known or later developed), in any form, in all languages, throughout the world, and for the full term of copyright, the right to renew or extend the copyright to the Work to the extent permitted by law in any relevant jurisdiction, the right to bring suit or make any claim in Assignee’s name for prior or future infringement of rights in the Work, and the right to license others to do the same, effective when the Work is accepted for publication.

Representations and Indemnification. By signing below, the Corresponding Author represents and warrants that:

1. The Work and all of its elements are without fabrication, plagiarism, or fraud.
2. The corresponding Author and all Co-Authors, jointly and severally, warrant and represent that (a) all Co-Authors have the authority to enter into this Agreement and the assignment of rights herein; (b) the Work is the original work of the Co-Authors(except for copyrighted material owned by others for which written permission has been obtained and disclosed in writing to Publisher), has not been previously published in any form (unless disclosed in writing to Publisher), and has been submitted only to the Journals; (c) the Work does not infringe the copyright or violate any proprietary rights, rights of privacy or publicity, or any other rights of any third party and does not contain any material that is libelous or otherwise contrary to law; (d) all statements and presentations of data in the Work asserted as factual are either true or based on generally accepted professionalresearch practices; and

- (e) any studies on which the Work is directly based were conducted in compliance with the governing Institutional Review Board (IRB) standards or were exempt from IRB requirements. In the event that any of the foregoing warranties or representations are breached, Co-Authors, jointly and severally, shall indemnify and hold harmless Publisher and its officers, directors, employees, and agents against any losses, liabilities, damages, costs, and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees) arising from or resulting out of any claim or demand of any kind relating to such breach.
3. Co-Authors have not previously granted, and will not subsequently grant, to any person or entity other than the Publisher a license, assignment, or other authorization of any kind to exercise any rights under copyright relating to the Work.
 4. The Author and Co-Authors warrant and represent that the Work was not made for hire in the course of employment and that they own the copyright in the Work exclusively.
 5. Co-Authors understand and acknowledge that they will not receive any royalty or other monetary compensation for assigning all rights to the Publisher under this Agreement.
 6. Co-Authors acknowledge that the Corresponding Author is responsible for providing the name and contact information of each Co-Author to the Publisher.
 7. Co-Authors grant Publisher and its licensees the right to use such Co-Author's name, likeness, biographical information, and professional credits on copies of the Work and the Journal and in connection with the exercise of any other of Publisher's rights granted hereunder and in advertising, marketing, and promotion in connection therewith and to grant such rights to any licensee or assignee of Publisher's rights hereunder.
 8. Each Co-Author has made a significant contribution to the Work, including: (1) the conception and design of the study reported, the acquisition of the data used in the study, or the analysis and interpretation of the data; (2) the contribution of significant intellectual content; and (3) approval of the submitted version of the Work and the opportunity to approve revisions.
 9. The Publisher may copyedit the Work for clarity, brevity, accuracy, grammar, word usage, and style conformity and presentation as deemed advisable or appropriate for production and publication. The Corresponding Author will be provided the opportunity to proofread proofs of the Work and will timely provide the Publisher with any proposed corrections or other changes, with time being of the essence. If corrected proofs are not timely returned, the Publisher may proceed with the publication of the Work as it deems appropriate.
 10. Co-Authors understand that if the Publisher decides not to publish the Work, the Publisher will notify the Corresponding Author and copyright ownership will revert to the Co-Authors. This Agreement shall be of no further force or effect, and neither party will have any further obligations to the other party(s). There is no guarantee that the Work will be published in the Journal(s).
 11. The Author and Co-Authors, at the request of the Publisher or its successor in interest, agree to execute any documents and do all lawful acts which may be necessary to effectuate this assignment or that are required to obtain and enforce worldwide rights in the Work or to otherwise aid Publisher or its successor in enforcing rights in the Work.

U.S. Government Works. Are any of the Co-Authors employees of the U.S. Government and prepared the Work as part of their official duties? Yes ___ No ___. If the Work is identified as a U.S. Government work, then the Corresponding Author hereby certifies that all Co-Authors were officers or employees of the U.S. Government at the time the Work was prepared and that the Work was prepared by all Co-Authors as part of their official government duties. The Publisher acknowledges that the assignment of copyright set forth in this Agreement does not apply. If some, but not all, Co-Authors are officers or employees of the U.S. Government, please contact the AVMA for further instructions.

Disclosure of funding and support. All funding, other financial support, and material support obtained directly or indirectly from any third party in connection with information included in the Work or with the writing or publishing of the manuscript has been clearly identified in the acknowledgments section of the Work.

Conflict of interest disclosure. All conflicts of interest, including relevant financial interests (e.g., ownership, employment, consultancies, honoraria, paid expert testimony, grants, patent-licensing arrangements, equity interests, and service as an officer or boardmember), activities, relationships, and affiliations (other than those listed on the title page of the Work) have been clearly identified in the acknowledgments section of the Work.

General provisions. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed under the laws of the State of Illinois without regard to the conflicts of laws principles thereunder, and jurisdiction and venue for all disputes shall be the state and federal courts located in Cook County, Illinois. This Agreement shall not be amended or modified unless such amendments or modifications are made in writing and signed by all parties. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to its subject matter and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements, understandings, and representations. The invalidity or unenforceability of any particular provision of this Agreement shall not affect the other provisions, and this Agreement shall be construed in all respects as if any invalid or unenforceable provision were omitted. This Agreement may be executed electronically or digitally in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed the original and all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument. An electronic copy of this Agreement shall be deemed an original. The party(s) authorize that their electronic signatures act as their legal signatures of this Agreement.

By signing this Agreement on behalf of all Co-Authors, the signing Corresponding Author represents and warrants that they have received written permission from each Co-Author to sign this Agreement on their behalf, to grant the assignment of rights, and to make all representations and agreements set forth herein.

Signature:

Print Name:

Date:
